b7C

Character: ASSAULTING A FEDERAL OFFICER

Synopsis:

At approximately 6:05 p.m., 6/13/73, USDJ EDWARD R. BECKER, EDPA., was in the vicinity of a playground in the 1000 block of Arrott Street, Philadelphia, when subject [REDACTED] approached him with a large dark colored belt wrapped around his right hand and swinging the buckle. He stated "I'm going to get your money and I'm going to get you." Judge BECKER began backing away from the subject, but subject followed Judge BECKER in a menacing manner, babbling incoherently. Judge BECKER past a neighbor, HARUTUN CHATSCHATURJIAN, and called for help. The neighbor said something to the subject to the effect don't you know this is a judge, but the man pointed to numbers on his arm and said "No one can arrest me" and kept chasing Judge BECKER. After a chase of approximately one block, Judge BECKER saw another neighbor, got in the car with him, and proceeded to his residence where he called the police. The Judge then returned with the police to the playground where subject was arrested. On 6/14/73, AUSA [REDACTED] advised he would give no prosecutive opinion at this time.
